

Desktop Shipping for Express and Priority

AMS.SHIP Express is a web-based shipping management system that provides shippers with desktop access to information they need to optimize carrier service utilization, including service delivery comparisons, business rule automation, address correction, and powerful analytical capabilities. It helps reduce costs, simplify cost center allocations, and improve on-time delivery. AMS.SHIP Express enables rating, shipping, and tracking of letters, express documents, and packages right from your desktop. Powerful administration and management tools combine with the intranet architecture to lower total cost of your Express and Priority mail. Most users can expect not only savings of their postage expenses but also gain significant employee efficiency and customer service improvements.
